LIFE ETERNAL TRUST AUSTRALIA MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS MANUAL

PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITY POLICY

Parents play a vital role in safeguarding their children’s rights and welfare, ensuring their safety, and exercising the legal authority to make decisions regarding their day-to-day care, development, and overall well-being, in line with their duty of care referred to as ‘parental responsibility.’

LETA acknowledges the importance of children’s involvement in events held at Collective properties or hired venues and aims to support families by providing suitable facilities in an appropriate environment. As an additional safeguard, we require all adults involved to possess Working With Children Check approvals.

While endeavoring to create spiritually conducive environments, we also respect the need for Sahaja Yogis attending to have spaces for quiet meditation and reflection.

In this context, the Trustees of LETA respectfully urge all parents to recognize and fulfill their responsibility to ensure their children are under their constant supervision, ensuring their safety, well-being, and preventing any disruptive behavior. It’s crucial not to assume that others will automatically take on this role.

It’s important to note that while LETA Trustees strive to provide a suitable environment, they are not liable for the safety and care of children beyond this provision. These responsibilities and duty of care firmly rest with the children’s parents or carers.

We appreciate everyone’s understanding and cooperation in this matter.
